

Scott Wesson joins RealFoundations, strengthening its Multi-Housing real estate practice

Denver, CO, May 19, 2008 – RealFoundations, Inc., a management and technology consulting firm focused solely on the real estate industry, has appointed Scott Wesson as Managing Director to lead the expansion of its Multi-housing Real Estate practice.

“Multi-housing real estate owners and operators are placing bigger bets on technology and processes and are seeing the benefits of those investments, too. Our knowledge and experience in execution will ensure our clients are successful with these investments,” said David Stanford, Executive Director and Founder RealFoundations, Inc. “Scott’s many years of experience helping real estate companies design and execute valuable change will be an asset to our firm and to our valued clients,” said Stanford.

Mr. Wesson has more than 22 years of experience developing and deploying technology and process strategies, with a focus on leading change initiatives and driving valuable process improvements for real estate companies. Prior to joining RealFoundations, Mr. Wesson served for 11 years on the executive management team of AIMCO, as Chief Information Officer and Chief Strategy Officer. “With Scott joining RealFoundations we are poised more now than ever to help our clients navigate through their technology and business process options both in the United States and the high growth residential markets of India and China,” said Stanford.

Much of Mr. Wesson’s career has been in the Real Estate sector, having served in leadership roles previously at Lincoln Property Company prior to his tenure at AIMCO. For the last 18 years, Wesson has implemented numerous Financial, Human Resource, Performance Management, Customer Relationship Management, and On-site systems both in the United States and abroad. Equally important, Mr. Wesson designed the underlying business process changes to make these technologies impactful to the business. “RealFoundations’ approach and methodology for addressing business challenges make them singularly qualified to serve the needs of today’s real estate executives,” said Mr. Wesson. “I am excited to add my experience to this organization. ”
